We first participated in Minicards in 2006. To the question whether we would like to continue our contract with Minicards we could give only one possible answer, viz. "Yes".

For our company the minicards have so far been very successful. Our clients have been highly satisfied with the offered gifts and the response has been remarkably high. Another advantage is that there is also the possibility to leave minicards with business-to-business clients.

In short: Minicards are a great success!
